

This is Steve Bryant, Steve is a new student athlete and is having a tough time balancing practice, games, and school work.

Some of Steve's older friends on the basketball team relate a lot to the problem that Steve is going through, and tell him about an app they used to help them adjust to the pressures of being a student athlete.

Enter the College Hobby Management App!

Steve decided to take his friends' advice and test out the College Hobby Management app, that they were raving about.

After using the app Steve Bryant's grades drastically improved, he felt more balanced, and his game even seemed to have gone up a notch.

HOME
25

AWAY
15

Steve was so excited and happy to have discovered the app that he recommended it to all his freshman friends, who were also student athletes. They decided to try the app as well.